Obesity

Around 1 in 8 people worldwide were living with obesity (World Health Organization [WHO], 2025)

Chronic and complex disease whereby an individual has excess fat accumulation that poses a risk to the person's health

Causes?

From a global adult perspective, obesity has more than doubled since 1990, while adolescent obesity has quadrupled over the same period. In percentage terms, 43% of adults worldwide were overweight in 2022, compared with 25% in 1990

Biological factors such as genetic, endocrine and metabolic factors make a significant contribution to obesity. These factors regulate appetite and fat storage (Ahmed & Mohammed, 2025). However, these factors will require environmental influences such as consuming excessive high-fat and high-sugar diets to have a significant impact on obesity.

HEART ATTACK
STROKE

DEPRESSION, SLEEP APNEA

why?

31% of adults and 80% of adolescents worldwide not meeting recommended physical activity

12,000 participants found that higher stress levels are associated with lower physical activity and increased sedentary habits
Stress linking to emotional eating and a greater preference for high-fat and high-sugar foods

Future?

The World Obesity Federation's 2025 Atlas, projects that the total number of adults living with obesity will increase by more than 115% between 2010 and 2030, from 524 million to 1.13 billion.

The situation is likely to worsen due to insufficient government action, as two-thirds of countries lack comprehensive obesity policies and only 7% of health systems are adequately prepared.

The Future obesity trends will be increasingly driven by socioeconomic and environmental factors, with individuals exposed to high fast-food environments and lower income or education levels facing significantly higher risks.

#6 Be adaptable and open-minded.

One valuable lesson I learned while navigating the work jungle is to expect the unexpected. The working world can be unpredictable at times. Be open-minded to other people's ideas and opinions, and be receptive to picking up new skills. Be adaptable to changing circumstances, and be willing to explore new ways of doing things. Don't be a stick in the mud.

They all came wearing duct tapes on their mouths.
